

2024 Ten Most Endangered Historic Properties Program

To increase public awareness of endangered historic properties and advocate for our state's historic buildings and resources, Preservation Alaska announces Alaska's Ten Most Endangered Historic Properties during National Historic Preservation Month each May. The properties on this list are nominated by individuals and organizations throughout the state. This list is a call for action from all stakeholders and is not a compendium of endangered historic places in our state. The Ten Most Endangered Historic Properties was established in 1991.

The 10 Most Endangered Historic Places program spotlights irreplaceable historic, architectural, cultural, and archeological resources in Alaska that are in imminent danger of being lost. The act of listing these resources acknowledges their importance to the heritage of Alaska and draws attention to the predicaments that endanger their survival and the survival of historic resources statewide. The list, generated from nominations by the public, aims to attract new perspectives and ideas to sites in desperate need of creative solutions.

Selections to the 10 Most Endangered list are based on three criteria:

- historic significance and architectural integrity,
- the critical nature of the threat identified, and
- the likelihood that inclusion on the list will have a positive impact on efforts to protect the resource.

Although Preservation Alaska's 10 Most Endangered Places list is published once per year, the fight for the preservation of our historic and cultural resources takes place in communities around our state daily. At Preservation Alaska, our educational programming and advocacy efforts continue year-round. Many properties previously listed among the 10 Most Endangered Historic Places have once again become assets to Alaska's communities. Others continue to need more attention, resources, and care.

We are fortunate that this year's 10 Most Endangered Historic Places Program is supported by the following sponsors: Platinum Sponsors are: Nvision, Anchorage, Kuchar Construction, LLC, Eagle River. Gold Sponsors are: Northwind Architecture, Juneau, BBFM Engineers, Inc. Anchorage. Bronze Sponsors are: HZA Engineering, Anchorage.
